The information on this page remains current and will be modified on this date.

My 'renovation bonus' is used to finance energy renovation works and/or expenditure. You are covered by this premium if you own your own home. You are also concerned if you own or usufructier and you rent up to 3 units. This bonus is also available to condominiums for work performed in common areas. The premium is paid by the National Housing Agency (Anah).

You occupy your accommodation

What works and/or capital expenditure are involved?

The work and expenditure covered by the premium shall include:

- Pellets
- Geothermal or Solar Heat Pump
- Solar heating
- Log boiler
- Air/water heat pump
- Solar water heater
- Pellets
- Log pan
- Closed fireplace, insert
- Hybrid solar equipment
- High performance gas boiler
- Heat or cold networks
- Thermodynamic water heaters
- Deposition of a fuel tank
- Installation of a thermostat with powerful regulation
- Powerful electric radiator replacing an old convector
- Controlled mechanical ventilation (VMC)
- Simple flow mechanical ventilation
- Thermal insulation of windows (and glass walls) provided that the settled materials replace single-glazed walls

What are the conditions for taking advantage of it?

To qualify for the premium, you must meet conditions related to your situation and your accommodation.

Your location

You can receive the premium if you own the accommodation you occupy.

The premium is awarded without any income condition. However, your income is taken into account to determine the amount of premium you can claim.

That's the tax reference income (RFR) (<https://www.service-public.fr/particuliers/vosdroits/F13216?lang=en>) which is taken into account. It is indicated on your tax notice.

Resource ceilings differ depending on whether you live in Ile-de-France or another region.

These resource ceilings are categorised into 4 profile colours (Blue, Yellow, Purple, Pink) according to the different income levels (household the most modest to the most affluent).

The more resources you have, the lower the premium.

You can use a simulator to know the colour of your profile and estimate the amount of financial assistance you can receive to renovate your home:

Additional assistance (bonus) can be added to this bonus if your work or expenses allow your home to get out of heat strainer (energy label F or G).

Another bonus low energy building (BBC) is granted if the work or expenditure allows your accommodation to reach the energy label B or A.

You can also benefit from the premium if you have to have an energy audit done for your home unless your profile matches MaPrimeRénov' Rose (the wealthiest households).

When is the premium paid?

The premium is paid by the National Housing Agency (Anah) in 1 time within 4 months maximum, by bank transfer.

You receive an email confirming the payment of the premium and the aid to your bank account.

Job Control

Anah may perform or cause to be performed any control to verify the completion of the funded work and services and the conformity of the work performed with your project that was the subject of the premium application.

In the event of non-compliance, all or part of the monies collected shall be repaid.

Can the premium be combined with other aid?

The premium and additional aid may be combined with the following:

- [Energy Savings Certificates \(EEC\) \[application/pdf - 260.6 KB\]](#)

What works and/or capital expenditure are involved?

The works and expenses covered by the premium may, for example, be insulation work for all windows of the condominium.

To help you with your choice of work and/or expenses, you can call on a specialist in home renovation:

Who shall I contact

- Specialised consultants in habitat renovation (France Rénov)
Allows you to have your renovation work carried out free of charge by specialised consultants

Phone

Open Monday to Friday from 9am to 6pm. You must have your last tax notice.

Free service + cost of a call

What are the conditions for taking advantage of it?

To qualify for the premium, the condominium must be composed of 75% main residences.

Condominium must be registered in the national register of condominiums (<https://www.service-public.fr/particuliers/vosdroits/F32058?lang=en>).

Work must be carried out on common areas.

These works must make it possible to achieve an energy gain of 35%.

How do I apply?

1- You have to prepare your project

To assist the co-ownership in its work project, the use of a project management assistance (AMO) is mandatory to be accompanied throughout the work. The AMO is provided by a specialised consultant offering technical, social and financial support to the condominium. This assistance is not the company that intervenes to carry out the work.

2 - You need to search for an RGE professional

The work must be carried out by a recognised environmental professional (RGE).

You can use a directory to search for an RGE professional:

You must then apply directly for the bonus online by attaching the quote.

You will receive the confirmation of the aid award and its amount by email.

4 - You have to get work done

You have the work completed and the invoices received.

5 - You must send the work invoices

Upon completion of the work, you must send the invoice from the professional who carried out the work to request payment of the premium and additional aid. The invoice must be scanned from your account:

How much can you get for the condominium?

The premium covers up to 25% of the overall amount of work, up to €15 000 per unit. This represents a maximum of €3,750 per unit.

You can use a simulator to get an estimate of the premium amount:

 Search for aid for habitat renovation

National Habitat Agency (Anah)

Go to simulator
(<https://france-renov.gouv.fr/fr/aides-de-financement/simulaides>)

Additional aids (bonuses) can be added to the premium. Thus, if the jobs allow the condominium to exit the heat strainer (energy label F or G), a €500 per unit is paid.

Another bonus low energy building (BBC) of €500 per dwelling is granted if the works allow to reach the label energy B or A.

For fragile condominiums, a supplementary aid from the Anah of €3,000 per unit may be granted if the condominium has an unpaid rate greater than 8% or is located in an urban renewal district (NPNRU).

Condominiums receive aid to finance the mandatory provision of project management assistance (AMO). This Help matches 30% within the limits of €180 per unit and with a floor €900 minimum per condominium.

When is the premium paid?

The premium is paid by the National Housing Agency (Anah) in 1 time within 4 months maximum, by bank transfer.

You will receive an email confirming the payment of the premium and additional aid.

Job Control

Anah may carry out or have carried out any control to verify the completion of the funded works and services and the conformity of the work carried out with the project for which the premium was claimed.

In the event of non-compliance, all or part of the monies collected shall be repaid.

Can the premium be combined with other aid?

The premium and additional aid may be combined with the following:

- ▶ [Energy Savings Certificates \(EEC\) \[application/pdf - 260.6 KB\]](https://www.ecologie.gouv.fr/sites/default/files/Brochure%20CEE%20_4p_A5_2022-1.pdf)
